Day 3 (Breakfast) - 4WD Pinnacles Sand Dunes

Soon after your morning breakfast you will enjoy 4WD Pinnacles Sand Dunes. April 1987, two North Americans disappeared in the West Australian desert on a 4WD holiday. They were never seen alive again. Their abandoned vehicles and unused supplies were found in sand dunes near an Aboriginal sacred site less than an hour away from the closest town. Two years later, in May 1989, the two men were both found dead of natural causes, on the same day, 1,000 miles apart back in North America.

Twenty years after the original incident, 3 couples who set out on a surfing trip are lured into the same desert area, by a strange local whose master needs fresh victims to consume. Preconceived assumptions about friendship, undiscovered sexual liaisons, and false leadership come apart as the three couples realize that the vacation is over.

The film as of February 2009 has secured both Australian and American release dates. Australia will be sometime in May 2009 with premieres in Sydney and Melbourne, and America; sometime in July 2009.
